

Rutland Herald

The state's congressional delegation said Vermont will get $15 million in federal emergency transportation funds to help rebuild roads and bridges damaged by Tropical Storm Irene.

The Federal Highway Administration grant includes $14 million for post-Irene road repairs, and $1 million for fixes to roads damaged by spring flooding.

Last week President Obama signed legislation that included emergency funding for Vermont and other states recovering from natural disasters.